AVIATION MANAGEMENT

BA

WHAT IS AVIATION MANAGEMENT?

Launch your career in the global aviation industry.

Our Bachelor of Arts in Aviation Management equips you with the skills to lead teams, manage resources, and navigate the rapidly evolving aviation sector. You'll study logistics, air navigation, aviation regulations, and aircraft operations, while developing leadership skills like negotiation, communication, and problem-solving — giving you a competitive edge in the job market.

UITM is the only university in Europe licensed to use ARCport software for airport operations simulations. This hands-on experience, used daily by major airline alliances, allows you to gain real-world insights and practical skills valued by employers worldwide.

THE WAY WE TEACH

Our Aviation Management programme blends theory with hands-on practice. You'll tackle real case studies, conduct environmental and financial analyses, join simulation games, and take part in international aviation projects. This approach ensures you graduate with both academic knowledge and practical experience.

Your progress will be evaluated through a mix of essays, reports, presentations, and in-class activities. Small class sizes mean personalised support and close contact with lecturers. Our teaching team includes international experts and industry professionals, offering insights from their daily work in aviation.

REASONS TO STUDY

Certification

You will acquire the ARCPORT certificate, which confirms your competence in the field of airport planning and traffic optimization in the airport terminal
